Many Witnesses Are Called in Accident Probe

Testimony in Edgerton Inquest Tends to Exonerate Dr. Meyers—Accident Unavoidable, Seems to be Sentiment.

Seeking to determine how Grover Olson, Edgerton volunteer fireman, came to his death in an accident the early morning of September 5 on Albion street in Edgerton, 15 witnesses were called during the inquest held Tuesday conducted by Coroner Lynn Whaley and District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie in the municipal court rooms here.

The court room was packed with witnesses and Edgerton residents interested in the outcome of the case, which has been under general discussion in the neighboring city since the accident and the death of Olson.

Witnesses told the jury that the truck died. The fireman jumped off the truck to run along hauling the hose cart with the rope.

Along Albion street near the public library the driver Carrier attempted to shift his gears and the engine of the truck died. The fireman jumped off the truck to run along hauling the hose cart with the rope.

The Ford motor started again and passing the hose cart on the inside of the curb allowed down to the fireman to get on and drag the hose cart once again with the motor truck.

Blinded by Lights. Dr. Fred C. Meyers, dentist, was coming down the street in a Hudson speedster model car. He was going to the station to aid the fire department.

Witnesses competent to testify in the opinion of the inquest authorities, declare that Dr. Meyers in going down the street must have been blinded by the bright lights of the Ford truck when the motor of the truck was in low gear, just starting to pull the hose cart.

There was a crash as the powerful Hudson smashed into the rear end of the Ford truck. The truck was thrown into the air and the collision was so severe as to knock them unconscious.

Cart Struck by Light. Testimony was given that the light from the Ford truck—the lens of one light being on the street—threw the light on the face of the car.

J. R. Blakely, manager of the electric company, was one of the most important witnesses. He saw the accident from the place where the car was struck.

"I saw the truck stalled in the middle of the street and then Dr. Meyers coming down the street," declared Blakely. "I thought there was going to be an accident. I could not see the hose cart nor the men because of the lights. I could not see behind the truck headlights at all."

"The Ford car was to the left of the hose cart which was in the center of the road," testified the witness.

How fast was Dr. Meyers going? questioned the district attorney.

"He was going more than 30 miles an hour. He could have stopped, but I don't think he knew that the hose cart was behind the truck," the witness testified.

Testimony on Speed. C. B. Maves told of the truck being stalled and then being attached for towing.

There was a man on the right side of the street and the first I saw from behind the truck holding the rope to the hose cart—he was coming right at us on an angle."

"The impression was that he was coming about 35 miles an hour. The hose cart was about in the center of the street," testified Maves, one of the men on the truck.

Willard Doty, garage owner, was called and gave material evidence on the trouble encountered in starting from the fire house. The heavy-duty usually employed on fire calls could not be started for the gasoline line has been shut off, so the delivery truck was used in the emergency to be driven by Fred Carrier.

"Any man who had a trailer hitch was eligible to aid the department in the race to be the first and second trucks to the fire," testified Doty.

Willard Doty, who was the first one in the city to reach a fire first. I believe Dr. Meyers had aided the department several times.

When I arrived at the scene the hose cart was to the left of the center of the street and evidently Dr. Meyers' touring car went between my car and the hose cart.

Take Your Choice ROOM for rent. 206 Blank street.

LARGE, NICELY FURNISHED, well heated room for rent. Bathroom, hot and cold water. Close in. $3 per week. Call 610. Inquire 610 Blank avenue.

If you were looking for a room, which one of these Classified Ads would you answer first? Naturally the second one. That is exactly what every other person who wants a room does. Many people who have rooms for rent will run ads such as the first one, when they would get 100 percent better results from one similar to the second. Supposing there were only one person in the city who wanted a room, instead of the great number there are, would it pay you to take a chance on his renting some other room?

BECKER IS DENIED COMPENSATION FOR TIME OFF BENCH

SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST FORMER MONROE JUDGE.

GRIMM UPHELD Conviction Under Espionage Law Automatic Ouster, Says High Tribunal.

(By Associated Press.) Madison.—The supreme court Tuesday decided that former Judge J. M. Becker of Green County was not entitled to compensation for the time he took from his office due to conviction for violation of the espionage law Aug. 31, 1918.

Justice Owen affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case holding that the judge was automatically removed from office on conviction despite a reversal of the court decision by the United States circuit court of appeals at a later date.

Judge J. M. Becker was removed from his office as county judge and judge of the juvenile court of Green County, when convicted in the U. S. district court of violating the espionage laws and was sentenced to three years in Leavenworth prison.

Following reversal of the decision by the U. S. circuit court of appeals on a writ of error, Becker started suit to receive compensation for his services from the time of his removal from office to January 5, 1920, the time his term expired.

Trial in circuit court in Janesville resulted in judgment for the county, which is opposing the action of Judge Becker. Appeal was then taken to the state supreme court.

The Wisconsin statute says that a judge who is convicted of an infamous crime, and the defense argues that following conviction there was no course to follow but to have a new judge appointed.

Extraordinary scenes followed the reopening of the Bourse Monday. Bankers and brokers were swamped with orders and had difficulty in establishing quotations. Foreign exchange rates soared to new heights.

Industrials Dump. Announcement that exchange new flip to the stock market, where the prices of industrials and other stocks jumped from 100 to 200 and, in some instances, 500 per cent.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The stock market, where the prices of industrials and other stocks jumped from 100 to 200 and, in some instances, 500 per cent.

Lightning Bolt Razes Large Barn

Fire, originating from a bolt of lightning, totally destroyed a large barn on the farm of Fred J. Henko, four and one-half miles south of Janesville, at 3:30 Monday afternoon.

The loss is estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000, including the cost of the building. It is about $2,500 besides a large quantity of hay and grain destroyed. The farm is owned by the Henry Henko estate.

Fire department sent out one piece of apparatus and several men with the result that other farm buildings, which for a time were endangered, were saved. Eight hundred feet of hose were laid and water was pumped from a tank on the adjoining farm owned by Dell Gunn, after a tank on the Henko farm had been pumped dry.

Horses and stock in the building at the time it was struck were rescued by farmers before the arrival of the fire department. Farmers and firemen worked in the face of a driving rain-storm.

The bolt of lightning which caused the damage, apparently split as it reached the earth, part of it setting the barn on fire and the other part striking a large tobacco shed, but failing to start a blaze there.

The farm is located in section 16 of the town of Rock about two miles west of the Janesville-Atton road.

George Shaw of Evansville Dies in West

Evansville.—George Shaw, 82, for years, died in a hospital in Los Angeles, Sunday, where he had been since being struck by an auto truck at Needles, Calif., 10 days ago. He was 82 years old and had been a resident of Evansville for 10 years.

Mr. Shaw left Evansville with his wife and son, Wayne Shaw, and family, several weeks ago to spend the winter in California. The family is returning home with the body and funeral arrangements will be made on their arrival here. Before coming to Evansville, 20 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were farming about three miles from town.

He leaves his wife, one son and a granddaughter.

125 in City for District Meet of Relief Corps

With 125 delegates present from out of the city, the annual, district convention of the Women's Relief Corps opened Tuesday morning at East Side. Odd Fellows hall with Mrs. Cora Dickinson, Janesville, president, in charge. Lodges represented with large delegations are Port Atkinson, Jefferson, Edgerton, Whitewater, Palmyra, Milton and Milton Junction.

Mrs. Sylvia Mork, Viroqua, state inspector, inspected the work of the local association Tuesday morning and stated it is one of the best in the state.

Several state officers are in attendance at the convention which will close at 6 p. m. Tuesday with the election of officers for the coming year. Among those present are Mrs. Grinnell, Beloit, past patriotic instructor of the national organization and Miss Cora Harris, Evansville, and Miss Juliet Morris, Beloit, past state presidents.

The delegates had dinner at noon at Lenz cafe. The program Tuesday afternoon consisted of songs, dances, readings and music.

Four Men Who Represent U. S. in Disarmament Conference Nov. 11

The four men who will represent the United States at the coming disarmament conference at Washington recently held their first conference at the state department. Secretary of State Hughes will take the leading part in the attempt to reduce the military forces of the world. Lodge and Underwood are senators. Root an authority on international law.

Declaring that greater economy needed in the organization, cannot be accomplished while he is drawing his present salary of $5,000, Lucian O. Holman, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, tendered his resignation to the board of directors, Monday night. It was accepted, with regret, effective December 15. Mr. Holman expects to enter business in Chicago. No action was taken to appoint a successor.

The resignation came somewhat as a surprise. On August 23, Mr. Holman offered his resignation for the same reason, but the board declined to accept it, accepting the resignation of the assistant manager instead. A judge was appointed at that time, totalling $9,969 for the next 10 months. Expenses exceeding that amount by $125 a month were cut down by the assistant's resignation.

A committee was appointed by the board to draw up a resolution commending Mr. Holman for his work since he has been in Janesville, which is a little more than a year.

COUNCIL PREPARES FOR 1922 BUILDING AND PAVING WORK

$70,000 HIGH SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IS INTRODUCED.

ORDER LATERALS Underground Work Voted for Six Streets—Rate for Paving.

City councilmen met Monday night in one of the shortest and quietest sessions of 1921, adjournment being taken shortly after 9:30 in contrast to the midnight sessions of the previous four weeks.

Introduction of the $70,000 bonding ordinance to complete the new high school.

Agreement to notify Hickory and Glen street property owners that they will get a rebate of about 25 percent, or $80 to $100 per lot, for concrete paving.

Proposed to buy a raft for the fire department's use in fighting bluffs fires.

Ordered 22 copies of the new city charter and three cars of crushed rock from Vankensha.

The second bonding ordinance to provide funds next year for finishing the lighting, heating and other equipment work, as read by City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham, calls for bonds of $500 each bearing interest at the rate of 5 1/2 percent, payable semi-annually, and maturing over a period of 20 years. To pay off the interest, the principal of the bonds in 1923 will cost $150 while in 1942, only $3,622.50 will have to be raised in the general tax levy for this purpose, the amount going down each year as the principal decreases.

The bonds would bear date of July 1, 1922 as that will be the time the first part of the $70,000 will be needed. The council will take final action on the ordinance, Oct. 21.

Accurate Paving Figures. Protest of Hickory and Glen street taxpayers against the sending out of notices of special assessments from the council.

Sheep Glands for Subnormal School Children

Chicago.—Pupils in subnormal classes at Chicago schools will be fed on a sheep gland diet as soon as arrangements can be completed. It was announced Tuesday. The gland diet is the idea of health department physicians, and several thousand children will partake of the sheep glands, prepared in the school kitchen. Special report blanks are being prepared to record results of the experiment.

Negro, Found Stealing, Killed by Shopkeeper

Milwaukee.—An unidentified negro, about 30 years old, was seen as a runaway, was shot to death Tuesday morning while stealing bread and milk from a grocery here. The storekeeper reported to the police that for two weeks he has been missing milk and bread, delivered in a box in front of the store before opening time.

Racine Farmers Armed for Battle on Alleged Klan; Blaine on Trail

(By Associated Press.) Racine.—Gov. John J. Blaine, in a telephone conversation with Sheriff Noto James late Monday, sought all facts relative to the threatening of John H. Baker by alleged Ku Klux Klan men Sunday afternoon, and that he believed the sheriff to use every effort to learn the identities of the persons and to arrest and prosecute them.

The governor informed the sheriff that if necessary assistance would be given him by the state, as it is the intention of Gov. Blaine to drive the Ku Klux Klan from Wisconsin.

That he did not believe any outside assistance necessary at this time. Sheriff James and deputies are working on the case and will give Baker and his home every protection possible.

That there is an organization of the Ku Klux Klan in Racine county, authorities say, appears, certain. Baker, while in Racine Monday, declared the Ku Klux Klan was threatening him, and that he believed the sheriff to use every effort to learn the identities of the persons and to arrest and prosecute them.

SEE ATTEMPTS TO WISCONSIN CO-OP STEAL TWO CARS AGAIN IS BALKED

"Stalling" of One and Return of Owner of Other, Foil Thefts.

Unsuccessful attempts were made to steal two automobiles here, Monday night, according to reports made to police headquarters. While there is a possibility that the work was that of boys merely seeking a "joyride," indications point to actual attempts to steal.

The first instance occurred on North High street about 7:30 p. m., according to George Stabileford, who said he came out of the Grand hotel lobby to drive away in his car. He said a man jumped out of the machine as he approached and that when he reached the car he found the engine was running. Investigation showed a motorometer miss, and a forty-minute later, Ralph Gault reported his car which he had parked on North Franklin street had been driven out to the middle of the thoroughfare where it had apparently "stalled." The carburetor of the machine was flooded, leading to the belief that it was abandoned after the motor had "died." A motorometer was also reported missing from this car.

Theft of four tires from a car stored in a barn was reported by J. O. Gallup, North Washington street.

TAKES IN EVANSVILLE. H. D. Stocking of the William Seyler company, Milwaukee, will speak at a public meeting in Odd Fellows hall in Evansville, Wednesday night, on "How to Avoid Bad Investments."

Victim of Wreck Slightly Improved

Mortimer Kallcher, 508 Riverside street, who was injured in a railroad accident at the Five Points Monday morning, rested easily Monday night and was slightly better Tuesday morning, according to reports from Mercy hospital.

Will Seek Means to Prevent Tieup of Nation's Lines

(By Associated Press.) Chicago.—Telegrams summoning the chiefs of the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen's union to a conference with the United States railroad labor board, in an endeavor to forestall an actual walk-out on the nation's railroads, were dispatched to the labor chief Tuesday.

The conference was called for 2 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 20, at the labor board headquarters here.

All members of the board are in the city, except the public members, who have been in conference with President Harding and the Interstate Commerce commission at Washington. They will reach Chicago late Tuesday.

The outline of what the conference will discuss could be obtained, but it was said, that new proposals would be presented to the labor men in an effort to prevent an actual cessation of work on the roads.

E. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts, which comprise six of the 11 other standard organizations, none of which have issued an actual strike call, said he had not been summoned by the board.

The board's first efforts, it was indicated, would be directed toward those organizations which have set the strike dates.

"We are going ahead with our plans for executive conferences," Mr. Jewell said, "and we will have reached our decision by the end of the week. At this time there has been absolutely no determination of what will be done."

MAY FORM TEST RAIL BOARD AUTHORITY. Washington.—The action of the railroad labor board in summoning railroad union chiefs to a conference Tuesday as a first step to determine whether the railroad board is to be regarded as an efficient government agency, was discussed here.

The impression was given in administration quarters Tuesday that a freight rate reduction was under consideration. There was no independent of the present labor wage tangle and the threatened walkout of the railroad employees.

Ground for the assumption that the railroad board was not a government agency was given in a statement by the president and the public group of the railroad labor board Monday was given in several quarters.

It was made plain that the consideration, being given to the question of independent of the present labor wage tangle and the threatened walkout of the railroad employees.

COUNTY'S BIGGEST
POTATO IS SOUGHT

Contest Is Launched by Glassco-Plan Blasting Shows.

The biggest potato grown in Rock county this year is being sought by County Agent R. T. Glasco.

The contest is to be conducted by the county agent and C. E. Glassco, growers are urged to bring the big "spud" to the court house office. The winners will have to beat a pound and 14 ounces, for one "spud" of this weight has been recently shown.

Large potatoes with big knobs growing out of the main body. This is explained by the rains during the last part of the growing season, which resulted in additional growth on the tubers.

Will Inspect Farms

Farms from Iowa county, under the leadership of H. R. Noble, county agent, will inspect farms in Rock county, Wednesday, October 20.

The delegation, with A. O. Collette, extension agent on animal industry from the college of agriculture, will inspect the farms of E. H. Parker and John Wehinger to see the Duroc-Jersey swine and Holstein cattle on these two farms.

Blasting Demonstrations

Two blasting demonstrations will be held in Rock county Oct. 25, under the direction of John Sworchart, land clearing specialist from Madison. He will show the latest methods of clearing land of rocks and stumps, with both picric acid and dynamite.

The first demonstration will be at 9:30 a. m. on the farm of Clifford Ellis, route 19, Evansville, and the second on the farm of Almer Barth, on the Beloit Clinton road, starting at 2 o'clock.

Model Farm Home

One of the finest country homes in Rock county is being completed by Willis Scofield, living in the town of Walton. The house, consisting of 14 rooms, is modest in every respect, having electric lights, furnace, and a modern drainage system.

The house is complete to the last detail, having a shower bath, storage room for vegetables, laundry, and coal bins.

The main floor has a study, big sun parlor, and a fireplace in a large living room, and a bath room. The second floor has four bed rooms, sewing room and a bath room. The third floor is finished with three complete rooms suitable for extra help during harvesting.

Such things as a clothes chute, dumb waiter, large closets, and all the latest in city home are in this house. Mr. Scofield has recently completed a 100-barrel cistern to supply his home with soft water.

On this 160 acre farm, one of the best in Fulton township, Mr. Scofield is raising purebred Holsteins, purebred Duroc-Jerseys, and a lot of alfalfa. He was one of the best farmers in Rock county to use lime, and generally purchasing a car or two every season.

Cause of Hog Cholera

While some of the cases are of unknown origin, it has been found that some of the hog cholera prevalent in the county was caused by buying pigs of peddlers, according to County Agent Glasco.

These hog dealers or peddlers purchase pigs in the northern part of Wisconsin and bring them to Rock county to sell to the farmers. One case of a farmer who bought a spotted pig, to raise "his little girl," is characteristic of the spread of this very contagious disease. This spotted pig had been infected either from the truck or from the farm where purchased and on being turned in with the farmer's herd, cholera soon developed. This farmer lost 50 pigs out of a herd of 70.

"It is very poor business to buy pigs from a dealer unless the source of their purchase is known," stated the county agent. "If the precaution is taken to isolate the purchased pigs for two weeks, danger of infection is practically eliminated."

Last year hog cholera started in Rock county in the same manner. The dealer responsible was stopped in his operations and the cholera was soon under control."

Last Warning
Issued by P. O.

Mail service to a number of stores, homes and office buildings is liable to be discontinued the latter part of October if the order of the postoffice department for the placing of mail receptacles and the numbering of places where mail is delivered is not carried out.

Wednesday has been designated by Postmaster General Will Hays as "National Mail Receptacle and Home Number Census Day." It will be observed in Janesville. Hardware stores have been asked by Postmaster J. J. Cunningham to stock up on mail boxes and numbers for houses to take care of the demand.

The numbering of houses must conform with the present system. Stores must place a receptacle inside the front door, easily accessible to the postman. The boxes at homes must be placed in convenient places.

The benefit derived by patrons will far outweigh the small expense involved in the purchase of these articles," said Mr. Hays in a bulletin received by Postmaster Cunningham.

TRAINMEN PLAN FOR ANNUAL ELECTION

Nominations for officers in the Rock River lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will take place at the regular meeting to be held at Eagle's hall at 8 p. m. Thursday. The referendum method of balloting for all local lodge officers will be put into effect instead of the former straight method. Under the new system, any five members may turn in a candidate upon a signed nomination. Secretary LeRoy D. Horn urges a large attendance.

Formation of a Milwaukee road club for employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, will take place at a meeting to be held in Milwaukee Wednesday. The purpose is to promote a better fraternal spirit among the men. Temporary officers are L. E. Jensen, president; C. H. Bilty, first vice-president; F. S. Peck, second vice-president; J. A. Anderson, third vice-president; Charles Peterson, P. S. Brand, treasurer; and Gus Reichart, sergeant-at-arms.

Repairs to the standpipes at the Chicago & Northwestern station are being made.

3 Days Chosen
for Boys' Drive

The membership canvass of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has been set for Oct. 26-28, with the goal 300 members. A. C. Preston, boys' work director, is in charge of the campaign.

Two hundred boys will be organized into four teams, with leaders, and they will solicit during the three days. Prizes will be offered for the leaders in securing memberships. The first prize will probably be a trip to the homecoming football game at Madison, Oct. 29.

Two "pop" meetings will be held, the first, Friday night, when about 30 junior boys will be entertained at dinner. Another meeting will probably be held Tuesday. The workers will meet at dinner Thursday and Friday nights of the campaign to make their reports. The canvass closes at 6 p. m. Friday of next week.

VETERAN RAILROAD
CONDUCTOR IS DEAD

Green Bay—Richard Witherall, veteran railroad conductor on the Green Bay and Western railroad, died in a hospital here Monday afternoon.

REDUCED FARES TO INDUSTRIAL EXPO

Special Arrangements Made to Cover Radius of 75 Miles.

Official announcement that the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways have reduced fares for the Southern Wisconsin Industrial and Commercial exposition to be held in Janesville, Oct. 29-Nov. 7 was made Tuesday morning. J. L. Ferguson, general passenger agent of the C. & N. W. railway, has sent word to Lucian O. Holman, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, that one and a half fare for the round trip will be put in effect Oct. 31 to and including Nov. 5. A minimum excursion rate of 50 cents will be charged. The rate will take in all stations on the Mineral Point line of the C. M. & St. P. and all other territory within a radius of 75 miles.

Spaces Are Marked.

Space in the Samson Tractor building at East Milwaukee and North Bluff streets, where the exposition is to be held, is now being marked off by J. W. Paige, Chicago industrial engineer in charge of arrangements. An auto show will be upon the first floor. The court of the building will be utilized as an annex and placed under canvas.

The style show by local merchants Enoch will be arranged around the sides of the room while a stage for promading live models will be constructed in the front. The people will be seated as in a theatre. Vocal and instrumental music will be furnished during the style exhibition, the fashion show to take place each afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Arrangements are being made to have moving pictures taken of the style show to be exhibited throughout the country and advertise the city.

Schools to Cooperate.

The room in which the style show will be held will also be utilized in the evenings for a lecture room. At the conclusion of the lectures, the floor will be cleared and used for dancing until 11 o'clock.

Space will be given free to the public, parochial, blind and industrial schools. Frank O. Holt, city superintendent of schools, has promised his cooperation according to Mr. Holman. Space will also be given the Parent-Teachers' associations.

Announcement was made Monday that the New Gas Light company of Janesville will have a large exhibit. Actual cooking will be done in gas ranges and samples given away free. The Skeldon Hardware company has already picked its space upon the second floor.

New exhibitors from out of town are the Cement Product company, Beloit; the Davidson-Koff company, Madison, makers of road machinery; and a Rockford candy company.

When Mr. Jones was saved from the frying pan—

They talk yet of the change that came over Jones. Some said it was psychology. Some said it was a miracle. All said it was a mystery.

When they asked Jones, he said it was liberation from slavery—slavery to the frying pan, and to grease and starch.

Jones used to take his breakfast fried, and followed this with a heavy lunch.

In those days they said at the office: "Old Jones has a secret sorrow and he's sore on the world."

One day Jones started late—no time for the usual breakfast to be cooked.

Jones had a breakfast on Grape-Nuts with good cream. He was delighted with the crispness and rich flavor. Felt satisfied and "fed." Tried it again at lunch. Kept on breakfasting that way—often lunching, too.

Jones began to "perk up," talk up, step up—GET up.

"Let Jones show you how to do this," they began to say at the office.

As to Jones—he said: "That's a great food—GRAPE-NUTS."

There are thousands of Joneses, both kinds—reckless feeders and wise feeders.

"Selling Nothing But Shoes"

Luby's

YOU PROBABLY have been in our new store. You know we have tried to make it everything you'd want it to be—in convenience and comfort and service for everybody. We are just about mostly settled, having arranged all of our brand new stock in place—handy to get at and serve your wants most efficiently. We have a great deal more room than at the old store and now can carry a much bigger stock in a better way than it was possible for us before. But that is not all—you remember the big Closing-Out Sale we made last Spring just before moving? That was the biggest shoe sale ever held in Janesville. We cleaned out at that time every last pair of Shoes we had in stock—sold our lease and fixtures and took our losses all at once and were done with it, instead of trying to spread them out over a longer period. It was hard, but it was the only thing left for us to do. We are happy now that we had to do it. We are starting all over again with everything in our favor—a new store with all the latest going styles in the best and most dependable footwear bought for cash at the present market's lowest bed-rock prices, and not only this, but we in turn have marked our selling prices to so close a margin as to just barely breathe and pay our way.

Do you know ours is the only shoe store where you pay NO LUXURY TAX? All the new shoes just in are priced so that the Luxury Tax is a thing of the past with us. This in itself is the most convincing statement we can make when you consider the high grade shoes we at all times feature. An occasional visit to our store, a glimpse at our show windows or by following our advertising and it's price announcements will afford you an opportunity of knowing that we are doing just exactly as we say. You know now ours is the newest and largest shoe store in Janesville, and you also know now why so many careful people buying shoes find the lowest prices here.

With all this in mind and the broad guarantee we always give with every pair we fit and sell you—means your absolute satisfaction in every way or money back is as complete an assurance of our desire to have your confidence and get your business as we know.

EXECUTIVE MOVE ONLY STRIKE CURE

Public Group Helpless in Quarrel Between Roads and Men.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright, 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington.—Executive influence alone can save the nation from a railroad strike.

Both the railroads and the employees have defied the United States board, created by congress for the purpose of avoiding strikes. Where the fault lies is hard to tell, but the fact is that the situation is such that the board is unable to decide. The fact is that both sides have conducted a campaign designed to show that the initiative in ignoring the railroad labor board lies with the other.

And while the quarrel has grown more intense, while some of the railroads on the one hand have declared the employees to a strike by declaring they were ready to deal a body blow to the strike, and the employees on the other hand have insisted that if they take a cut in wages the rates must come down for freight and passenger service.

Between the two stands the public, represented by a more or less helpless group in the United States railroad board but now, represented by the largest influence and power of the chief executive upon whose doorstep the problem has been deposited—the railroads confident that Mr. Harding will force out the employees and the employees confident that the president will not dare to use his executive power to interfere in a labor controversy to their disadvantage. The employees know, however, that in congress the powerful agricultural bloc has been trying for months to force a reduction in freight rates and that the railroads will not escape this time with a victory over their employees if congress takes a hand.

Boards Have Much in Common
President Harding has reduced the matter to a simple formula in that he recognizes that the interstate commerce commission on the one hand, which controls the incomes of railroads, and the United States railroad board, which controls the wages paid in railroad expenditures—namely wages—have much in common, and that a combined report from both agencies will assist in an intelligent settlement of the problem.

Executive Working Up
For months the railroads have been insisting that they couldn't reduce freight rates. They convinced most everybody in the government that they would be bankrupt by July 1 unless aid was forthcoming from congress. But that aid hasn't been given, and now October is here, with railroad earnings picking up. The railroads have been making voluntary reductions in freight rates, but Mr. Harding, who from the first insisted that rates must come down, probably will not be satisfied this time with promises of reductions but will find a way to make these reductions effective.

Opportunity for Negotiation
The fact that two weeks must elapse before the strike order can be issued upon a giving ample opportunity for negotiation. Meanwhile the word from railroad sources is that a strike can be fought and won by the employees. The attorney general of the Pennsylvania railroad is reported as saying that the strike could be beaten by his road. It may be that his employees will not prove as loyal to the unions as the leaders of the latter think. It will be noted that the union leaders have postponed the strike order on the Pennsylvania two days beyond the date set by the workers on other roads. This is interpreted here as meaning that

Opportunity for Negotiation

It is hoped to influence reluctant employees on the Pennsylvania by demonstrations of strength on western railroads.

Feeling Is Intense

Feeling between the railroad executives and the labor leaders has been growing more intense every day. The chances of reconciliation between them are not considered good. Only the intervention of the executive can force a withdrawal of the strike order, but it will have to be accompanied by a reduction in freight before it will get very far with the employees.

TRACTION CO. WINS IN SUPREME COURT

$1,400 Circuit Court Verdict for Kressin Youth is Set Aside.

E. W. Kressin, Janesville, as guardian of his son, La Verne, lost the fight for $1,400 damages from the Janesville Traction company with the handing down of a decision by the state supreme court Tuesday holding that there was no cause for suit. The supreme court ordered Judge George Grimm to dismiss the complaint. Kressin was awarded $1,400 damages by a jury in circuit court at the spring session. The son La Verne was injured June 12, 1919 when he was crushed between two street cars. The case was fought by William H. Dougherty as attorney for the Janesville Traction company. He was opposed by Kady and Kady, Watertown, attorneys for the plaintiff. The case created much interest. Children testified at the trial in Rock county circuit court that they had run the street cars a block when left unguarded and had often changed the trolley. Attorneys for the plaintiff contended that the company was not liable as the Kressin child was trespassing on its property, when injured.

examination of the brakes on Meyer's machine at the request of Chief Ben Springer.

"I found the brakes of the Hudson car in good order—both the foot and emergency brakes were in very good shape and they worked," testified Stark. "The machine might have skidded because the tread on one tire was worn more than the other rear tire."

Asked whether any driver could see beyond Ford machine lights with the motor in low gear, by Dr. Meyer's, the witness answered, "No one can look beyond unprotected lights of a Ford, the old models, when it is running in low gear."

Drs. Floyd Shearer and A. T. Shearer testified of the injuries suffered by the fireman, Grover Olson was stated to have had a fracture at the base of the skull, which caused his death, and injuries to his left arm. Albert Lyons, the other fireman seriously injured, is now in a Chicago hospital.

The recovery of Lyons is problematical, declared Dr. Floyd Shearer. Henry Biesman, fireman, came to the witness stand on crutches for his vertebral injury. In the accident, Fred Carrier, the driver, testified that he saw Meyer's approaching at a distance but paid no attention because of the excitement of towing the hose cart after the delay. He declared that the truck was on the proper side of the road when the crash came and the next day investigated to find mud knocked off the machine on the right side of the street.

Frank Hinko, fireman, and Royat Maltress, also testified during the morning session.

Questions were asked the witnesses by Dr. Meyer's driver of the car which figured in the accident.

On going to the place of the fire, a barn, the dentist did not see the department. He turned around and started for the station to see if he could aid the department.

"I was on the right side of the road. The hose cart was on the wrong side and about three feet from the curb," stated Dr. Meyer. "I did not see the hose cart because of the strong, glaring light. As soon as my car got through that awful glare, I was upon the hose cart and men. I turned left into the curb and truck and wrecked my own car. I suffered injuries that laid me up in the hospital for three months."

"THE GUARDED HEIGHTS."

In the past year, the Gazette has printed some of the best fiction published. It will continue to do so. Rights to serial publication must be purchased and prices vary in keeping with the value of the book as a seller. But the Gazette has not hesitated about getting the best there is. For the winter story, for the long evenings, the Gazette has arranged for the publication of "The Guarded Heights," by Wadsworth Camp, who springs to fame with this story so human and so fascinating as to, at once take a place among the best fiction of the year. A few days ago, on the subject of night schools and the education of the vocational schools of Janesville, offered to anyone, no matter what the circumstances, it was declared that with these facilities, no man or woman need be without schooling and that one's destiny largely lay in his own hands. "The Guarded Heights" has that as a great basic thought. Its publication will be commenced in a short time in the Gazette.

Speaking of the exaltation of the lowly, the German copper pennig is now worth twice as much as the paper mark.

A MUNICIPAL EXPERT IN EVERY CITY.

That municipal government should be based on something beside the hap-hazard application of a variously interpreted charter law; that it has something more than the mere expenditure of the money of the taxpayers by personal whim and ought to be dictated by sound business and definite aims, has been realized by the state of Kansas. Six young women and 49 young men are taking the course in municipal government in the Kansas University. In charge of the course is a man who has never been a university graduate, but has had experience as Mayor of Spokane, Wash., for many years. He is therefore practical and does not waste time in talking untried theory.

Neither has he the foolish notion that he will turn out these graduates to go forth and at once revolutionize the municipal affairs of the cities. But he is meeting actual problems as they continuously arise and the class is studying them from actual experiences. It is hard for the average city politician who thinks he is in office by the Grace of God, to look after his personal friends to realize that there might be sound principles capable of being applied to the job he has been given as an agent of the people.

Mayors and other city officials are to attend the university and take up courses in municipal government for several days each year, presenting their separate problems and gaining helpful and helpful assistance. Mayor Bentley in his closing address here, warned mayors to take no heed of Chambers of Commerce, of newspapers, and other propaganda in criticism. Certainly that was a peculiar attitude to assume. "The king is above the law and criticism." Would it not be better if there was not that grand isolation from the citizenship of the community and a closer union with those who pay the taxes or who voice a large public sentiment?

Professor Charles M. Fassett, of the Kansas University has no false notions about what may be realized by the course in municipal government. What the women and men may do after having taken the course is stated by him:

"I tell them to identify themselves at once with the forward looking group of citizens to be found either actually or potentially in every town and city. If this group is active, they may bring new life and new understanding to the things the group is trying to accomplish. If the group is inactive through want of leadership, perhaps the student can furnish that leadership."

If the railroads are tied up with strikes it will be a long step toward making all short hauls with motor trucks.

BOOTLEGGING AND THE BIG MAN.

The Gazette has many times said that the whiskey ring was a part of big business. He accepts no law that interferes with his pleasure. But there is also the disrespect for law instilled by officials—men who ought to set an example of law enforcement. Janesville had an example of the failure of some men to abide by or give respect to law at the convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities when much whiskey drinking was in evidence. What one is ready to inquire is, how can respect for law be instilled with an example of this sort? It was not a joke; it was a pitiable example of the weakness of man.

When gloom comes and sits on the back of your

WHY PRICES STAY HIGH

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D.C.—"Why," demands an editor out in the corn belt, "does the retailer charge from 25 to 40 cents a pound for pork chops when hogs cost him only 5 or 7 cents?"

He is one of a chorus singing different words to the same tune. A man doing honest work in Oklahoma wants to know why he cannot take enough hides across the street on his back to buy a pair of shoes. A man in Georgia wants to know why cotton enough to make a tent won't buy an undershirt. And a farmer in Maryland asks why apples, such as he fed to his hogs because it would not pay to haul them to market, sell for 5 cents each on the fruit stands.

All of these questions have been asked many times. They have also been loudly answered with the assertion that retail prices are too high, which is of course true, begging the question. Sometimes it is added that the retailer is a profiteer, which is generally not true and certainly sheds no light on the situation.

When the editor's query was laid before certain marketing experts in the government service, it was learned that the question is a good deal more complicated than those who blame the retailer and let it go at that, ever imagined. The Department of Agriculture is making a study of the retail prices of farm products in all of the principal American cities. It is going to find out just why these prices are so inordinately high and why the farmer gets such a small share of the large price that the consumer pays. The government men do not care to be quoted, nor to make any extensive comment until this investigation has been completed. But in the meantime they throw out a few hints.

In the first place, they say, don't be too quick to blame the retailer. Retail prices, probably are too high, but they are not as much too high as you think. The retailer has been facing a dull market for a long time now. His great need is to turn over his stock. It is extremely probable that he would reduce prices if he could afford to do so, in order to stimulate trade. In many cases, of course, he has done so. The papers are full of bargain sale advertisements. Yet the average of retail prices remains high.

This, say the experts, is partly because of the cost of retailing, as a business operation, is high. Out of the 35 cents that you pay for pork chops, the retailer must pay, not only the price of the pork at wholesale, but also the rent of his store, the cost of the ice on which he kept the pork, the wages of the man who cut it and sold it to you, the paper in which it was wrapped, and the upkeep of the vehicle in which it was delivered.

The experts do not seem to know exactly what percentage of the cost of those pork chops is represented by each of these elements in its transfer. That is probably one of the things their investigation will reveal. But they think that the price paid for the pork is less than half of the total cost of getting it from wholesale to consumer. And all of these factors in the operation have risen in cost. Rent, wages, ice, paper, gasoline—no one needs to be told that all of these things are from 10 to 100 per cent higher than they were in 1913.

Remember, too, that with many persons out of work and money tight, the retailer is doing a smaller than normal business. But he still pays the same rent and he probably has to maintain about the same staff. His reduction in expenses, in a word, is not in proportion to his reduction in business. That means that the cost of making each sale is higher than it would be if he were doing a big business. If the butcher only sold one pound of pork in a day, he would have to get $10 to $15 for it in order to break even.

As a matter of fact the profiteering retailer is probably a rare bird just now. A few of them are perhaps making large profits by sticking to war-time prices; but many more of them are only hoping to make expenses until better times come along.

The difficulty, explains an expert, lies in the fact that retail prices, wages, and farmers' earnings are all on different levels. In order that our clumsy industrial system may work at all, they must be on about the same level.

When prices began to drop, the drop fell on the farmer first. With unsold stocks of foodstuffs on hand, the buyers refused to give him a high price for what he raised. But he had to sell. So he took a low price. Wholesale and retail prices followed suit. The cost of their operations was high, chiefly because wages remained high, and by cooperation and sacrifice, both of which the farmer lacked, they were able to keep up their prices to a great extent.

But the farmers form about 40 per cent of the buying public. Having very little money, very little, manufacturers of farm implements immediately felt the pinch. Their sales in many cases fell off more than half. Other manufacturing lines also felt it. As a result factory employees were thrown out of work. Unemployment set in. It affected millions. So the buying public was still further reduced, demand declined still more, the cost of every retailing operation rose, and the retailer, with his high prices, was less than ever in a position to reduce them.

It is a stalemate which is easy to understand, but hard to remedy. If a bushel of potatoes would buy a pair of shoes in 1913, but it takes two bushels of potatoes to buy a pair of shoes now, then the potato grower can only buy half as many shoes now as in 1913. One result is that employees of shoe factories will be thrown out of jobs. Then they can't buy any shoes either.

Really, the farmer, if at all intelligent, is in an enviable position. He at least can eat. It is only the farmer who raises nothing but one money crop who now suffers—the man who raises only tobacco, or cotton—for example. The farmer who produces hogs and chickens, and keeps dairy cattle and raises potatoes and beans and other vegetables, need go to market for very little of his food. He is vastly better off than that ex-shoe-factory employee, for example.

Business will never pick up until the farmer once more is able to buy a pair of shoes with a bushel of potatoes. That can be accomplished either by giving the farmer more or the shoe maker less. The diagnosis is easy, but the only remedy seems to be a slow process of readjustment.

chair, remember that 12,000,000 men are at work in the United States, each one getting a fairly good daily wage.

THE DOG BEHIND THE FENCE.

In the disarmament conference we are again told, that all would be serene if Japan were not a factor in disturbing the peace of the world by ambitions in the Pacific and to the west from China.

From Japan comes the news, often repeated, that the people there are suffering from the extraordinary burden of war armaments. They are tired and want assurances of no more war. Here in America we have a loud voiced lobby always for armament. This lobby says we must have a great navy.

So also with munitions—we have men in the United States so lost to all sense of human decency as to want war for the purposes of profit.

One may expect that these interests, powerful and rich, will be at the conference in Washington ready to see that the Japanese bugaboo is kept alive at all times.

How could we have football if the rain did not provide a muddy field?

OCTOBER.

October and the smoke upon the trees;
The smell of smoke upon the breeze;
The morning mist and autumn's chill,
The brown of death upon the hill—
And yet a sense of loveliness
Which pen or brush cannot express.

A strange, mysterious calm which seems
The canvas of a thousand dreams;
The calm of duty nobly done,
And yet we feel the pulse of life,
The joy with which all hearts are thrilled,
A sense of promises fulfilled.

Beyond October winter waits
To pile his snow upon the gates;
When men call death shall hurl its stroke
Alike at plant or giant oak,
And yet beneath the snowdrifts deep
We know the violets merely sleep.

Man kind has its October, too,
When little more there is to do,
And we may claim the sweet content
Of strength that has been nobly spent
And yet we feel the pulse of life,
There is no spring where we shall go.

October with its lovely breath
Fills the air; there is no denial
Men read it in a thousand ways.
We see beyond the mist and haze
Which shroud the hills and valleys deep
That all shall wake who fall asleep.

Elise Ferguson believes the signs point to sex conflict, now that women are in politics. Well, there is only one weaker sex—not the women.

In the midst of a school row over her attire, a lady said it is no crime for a woman to appear in gold knickers. No, perhaps not, but it is a crime for some men to.

It is a question whether the Ku Klux or the boll weevil is the more popular in the south.

It will be longsome around the old Coblenz sector when the American soldiers sail for home and bring their salaries with them, the money.

Who's Who Today

LEMUEL BOLLES.

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion, who will be a prominent figure at the Legion's coming convention in Kansas City, has held office under three Legion national commanders, Franklin D. Oiler, F. W. Galbraith, Jr., and John G. Bremer.

Mr. Bolles was born in Minneapolis on Aug. 21, 1882. He moved to Washington in 1909 and attended the University of Washington law school. From 1907 to 1915 he was employed by the First National bank of Yakima, and was assistant adjutant general of the state of Washington.

Mr. Bolles served in all grades in Company E, Second Infantry, Washington national guard, and commanded that company from 1911 to 1914.

He went overseas with the Forty-first division in December, 1917, and served as lieutenant colonel on the general staff of the army corps from May 1, 1918, to March 8, 1919. On his return to the United States in July, 1919, he was discharged from the service and was requested by the Legion national executive committee to assist in the organization of the Legion in preparation for the Minneapolis convention. Mr. Bolles was one of the original delegates to the Paris census of the Legion. During his terms of office, the organization has grown from a few posts scattered over the country to a mighty force of 12,000 posts distributed in every state all over the world.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

What Educators Should Teach.

We are still backward enough to think that if educators would teach students to think rather than what to think, would teach principles rather than doctrines that are notoriously controversial and rapid to change, they would have a lot of work with their freedom, and the old student psychology might be rediscovered.—Springfield Union.

The Jew As an American.

Oct. 3 was the Jewish New Year. We don't know when the first Jew landed in America, but if he did not travel with Columbus, or with John Smith, he must have arrived soon after the Pilgrim Fathers got here, and nobody has worked more steadily and effectively to make this favored land and what it is, as peace-makers of progress America's Jewish citizens, have always been in the forefront. In the winning of the West we have no more heroic heroes than the Jewish merchants whose names were household words to all the old-timers. What Westerners do not know is how such sterling members of the Hebrew race?

What we would esteem highest in Hebrew character is Jewish family life. Now, more than ever, does it set the world a shining example of domestic virtues. We wish America and the Hebrew law no greater good fortune than that these virtues shall persist.—Capra's Weekly.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1881.—The Burr Robbins and Colvin circus will close its season here tomorrow and the largest crowd that ever attended a circus here is expected, as both the men are well known locally and have their headquarters here. Although the season has been a wet one, the circus has had good crowds at nearly all places and has had a successful season.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1891.—Sunday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1901.—The laying of a brick pavement from the bridge to Main street on Court street will be completed by next week. The pavement will be a fine one, as there is in town, Rev. Robert C. Dennis, of the Congregational church and one of the best pastors they have ever had, has had a Chicago pastor offered to him and is undecided about taking it.

TEN YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1911.—Moving pictures were taken of fire drills at the local high school today.—The fourth game of the world's series, being played between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics, was called off today because of rain.—Athletes have lessened the interest in theater and will show pictures there for a week of fire trucks in action.

VITAMINS IN FOOD

Vitamin is pronounced with the v as in vital and not about as in visual. No use in discussing the origin of the word, because it was coined rather too previously anyhow, and like the term hysteria, it doesn't mean just what hysterics think.

Some laymen seem to know that one must have plenty of vitamins in order to keep well, just as one must have plenty of calories and oxygen and sunshine and sleep.

Milk and butter and cheese and skim milk and natural buttermilk and soured milk and fermented milk beverages all contain some of the so-called "fat soluble" vitamins, called in this instance fat soluble A, B, and C, and these foods are all good for that reason, among others, in the daily regimen.

But other common foods are quite as good as milk as sources of fat soluble A factor (which, vitamin, is known as vitamin A). This liver, fresh eggs, dried eggs, spinach, beef fat, mutton fat, entire unskimmed wheat, raw cabbage, salmon, herring and other foods will supply all the fat soluble A factor anyone needs so far as any selection has yet been learned.

In fact, few children or adults in America or Canada suffer from a deficiency of vitamins unless there is some abnormal or unusual restriction on the variety of food eaten. Many infants, however, suffer grave nutritional impairment by reason of a vitamin deficiency. For instance, infants whose diet is restricted to condensed or evaporated milk or to boiled milk or even to pasteurized milk for many months.

There is the verdict of a special committee of scientists of the Food and Drug Administration, who have investigated the problem thoroughly:

"It is safe to say that the individual always finds a sufficient supply of vitamins in his food so long as his food is reasonably varied and has received no artificial or accidental separation into parts, and so long as no destructive influence has been applied to it."

The food must be varied—the more different kinds of food in your diet, or the more kinds at one meal, the better.

The food must not be subjected to destructive influences—such as refining wheat flour to a deadly white powder that contains no vitamins, polishing natural or brown rice, "preparing" cereals which contain vitamins in their natural state but are robbed of vitamins in such processes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Office Test.
I am employed in an office where a fellow worker has had a fever and sneezes all over the place. Sometimes you can feel a shower strike you when he sneezes. He does not use a handkerchief when he sneezes, and he is careless also in coughing. He only laughs when the rest of us fellows tell him to stop his sneezing and coughing. When he sneezes or coughs, and declares you can't catch any fever that way. Still, we don't like to know—B. S.

Answer.—Perhaps you can't catch any fever that way, but commonly any fever is associated with actual bacteria infections of the nose which you certainly do catch that way. Regardable of the specific condition you are concerned with, the following is a menace to all who work in the office, and he should be firmly suppressed.

Getting Thin.
I have recently been told that the constant eating of grapefruit daily for breakfast will make one grow thin. But I don't want to grow thin. I am a stout fellow and I have also heard that sleeping in a bedroom where there is running hot and cold water in the bathroom makes one grow thin. I shall be grateful for information about these points.—A. E.

Answer.—Of course neither eating grapefruit daily for breakfast nor sleeping in a room where there is running hot and cold water will make one grow thin or fat.

Apartment of the Tuberculosis.
I have any danger of catching tuberculosis by moving into a flat where one who had tuberculosis has lived, if the flat has not been fumigated? What do you advise in a flat with in such a case?—M. F. K.

Answer.—If the room or rooms have been given an ordinary cleaning and repapered or painted if paper or woodwork is soiled, there is no danger in moving in. Fumigation is a superstitious rite which adds nothing to the safety of the occupants of the apartment.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Only letters of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail. If the letter is long, it will be stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address, Dr. Wm. Brady, Gazette.

Q. How much does a gallon of sweet milk weigh?
A. A gallon of sweet milk weighs about 8.6 pounds.

Q. When did money begin to play an important part in world affairs?
A. F. K. D.

Q. A little coin had been made and money used to some extent. It was not until Rome became a world power in the centuries just preceding Christ's birth that money became fluid and took an important place in world affairs. It was also at this time that soldiers were first paid for their services.

Q. If I take a civil service examination, will it pass, may I try again?
A. It is possible to take other examinations if you fail to pass or if you wish to try to make a better grade.

Q. When and where was the first milk in America produced by power?
A. The first water milk in the United States was in 1891, at a plant built in New England on the Dorchester side of the Neponset in 1824.

Q. At what time in the fall is it safe to trim soft maple trees?
A. Soft maple trees may be trimmed late in the fall after the growth has stopped for the winter.

Q. Is it possible to do some college work at home and have it count toward a college degree?
A. The Bureau of education says that practically all of the large universities and colleges have what is known as "extension courses," where part of the work toward a college degree can be taken by correspondence.

Q. How long do cats live?
A. There are no authentic statistics available in regard to the average longevity of cats, but they often live from 10 to 15 years.

Q. How is the name of St. Arthur Quiller-Couch pronounced?
A. Quiller-Couch is pronounced Kwiller-Cooch—the double "o" with the same sound as in "fool."

New York—Marshall Fuch has accepted the invitation of the Knights of Columbus to be the guest of that body in Chicago, Nov. 6. It was announced.

A Free Booklet

On The Use of Rice

Rice may be made into appetizing dishes for breakfast, lunch or dinner. It is a good breakfast food, and an excellent basis for soups, substantial dishes and salads and desserts. The texture and mild flavor of rice make it suitable for serving or combining with other food materials of pronounced flavor such as meat, eggs, cheese and some fruits and vegetables.

It is comparatively cheap so that using it to supplement and extend the flavor of more expensive foods will prove an economic practice in any household.

The Department of Agriculture has just issued an attractive booklet giving full instructions on how to secure the best results in cooking rice, accompanied by a large number of new recipes.

This is a free government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will send a copy for any one who sends two cents in stamps for return postage. In filling out the coupon print name and address so be sure to write plainly.

Dinner Stories

When he leaves his office and goes to the drinking fountain he scratches his head. She works in another department in the same store. When she sees him scratch his head with his left hand she scratches her head with her right hand. But other clerks have learned the code and now he and she are looking for a new place to scratch.

A little girl called at a grocery store and asked for a quart of vinegar to be put in a gallon jug. This being done, she asked for another quart to be put in the same vessel. "Why didn't you ask for half a gallon in the first place?" asked the grocer.

"Because," answered the small shopper, "it's for two different purposes."

Little Jane had long desired a baby sister, and one day she came rushing to her mother and said, "Mother, come downtown quickly!" she exclaimed. "There are splendid bargains in babies and you can get one while they are cheap."

"What in the world are you talking about, my dear?" the mother asked in astonishment. "Somebody must have been playing a joke on you."

"Truly, truly," the little girl declared, jumping up and down in her eagerness. "Great big signs about it, on the top of the skating rink. It says, 'this week only, children, half price.'"

Ruth Continues Barnstorming Despite Landis' Warning

"BOOSTING GAME," SAYS SWAT KING, ANSWERING JUDGE

Jamestown, N. Y.—"Babe" Ruth and his team of exhibition players were due to play here Tuesday afternoon. The Bambino expects to keep up his barnstorming trip until the cold weather sets in.

Reports that Judge Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball, was studying Ruth's refusal to abide by the laws of organized baseball which prohibit a world series player from participating in any games until the completion of the regular season, did not stop the Swat King's ambitions. "We are going to play exhibition baseball until Nov. 1," said Ruth, "and Judge Landis is not going to stop us. I am not in any light to see who is the greatest man in baseball. "Mussel, Merer and I think we are doing something in the interest of the game. I do not see why we are singled out when other big players who participated in the world series money are permitted to play post season games. I am not going to earn money for the game, but I am going to give baseball fans an opportunity to see the big players in action."

Jefferson Next for Janesville

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Jefferson—The local high school football team plays Lake Mills here Tuesday afternoon. The game was scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed on account of rain.

Jefferson high is the next opponent for Janesville. The Blues going to Jefferson next Saturday. The outcome of Tuesday's battle will give a little more light on the possibilities of the coming season.

To date, the Jeffs have not lost a game. They defeated Cambridge, 34 to 7, and Oconomowoc, 7 to 0. Jefferson has always been a tough customer for Janesville. They put out a pretty aggregation which is usually on a par with Port Atkinson for rivalry.

Rain handicapped the locals in their Monday game but they will be out in strength Tuesday afternoon.

New Methods of Teaching Are Related

In spite of the storm, 65 women attended a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association at the Jefferson building Monday afternoon and heard a program directed by Mrs. G. F. Ehringer.

The topic was "Teaching Methods." An interesting talk on books for children was given by Miss Sunny Cox, "The Book Week," Nov. 12-13, and will also assist parents in selecting books for Christmas gifts.

Miss Janet Cody elaborated on the use of books in teaching history and geography, saying that good books teach ideals, the use of fluent English, and help in developing the imagination.

Miss Katherine Lane outlined the modern methods of teaching geography, saying that the child is taught simple facts about household utilities, and connected them up with the countries which produce them.

Miss Margarette Peterson described the methods employed in the use of the sand table in teaching geography, and other topics. She said the pupils' interest was aroused, and they showed much originality in arranging their exhibits, in showing scenes from different countries.

Miss Nina Moore told a kindergarten story and Miss Belva Sorenson gave a piano solo. Music was also furnished by a chorus of the second grade pupils and those of the seventh grade.

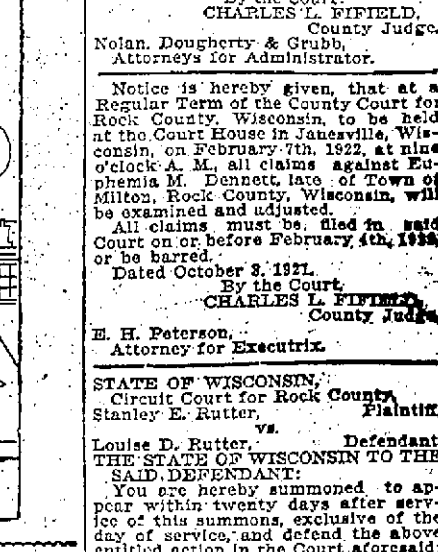

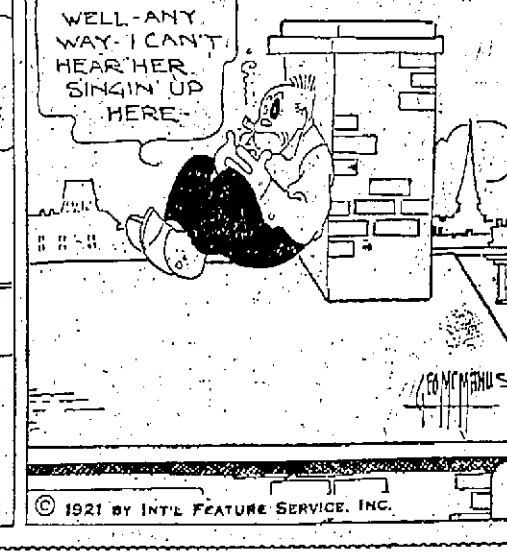

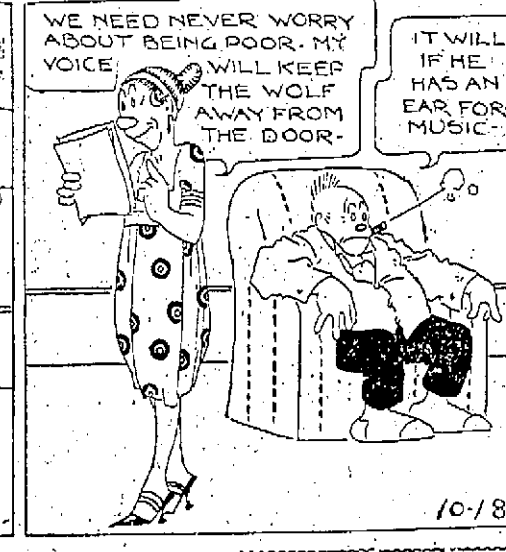

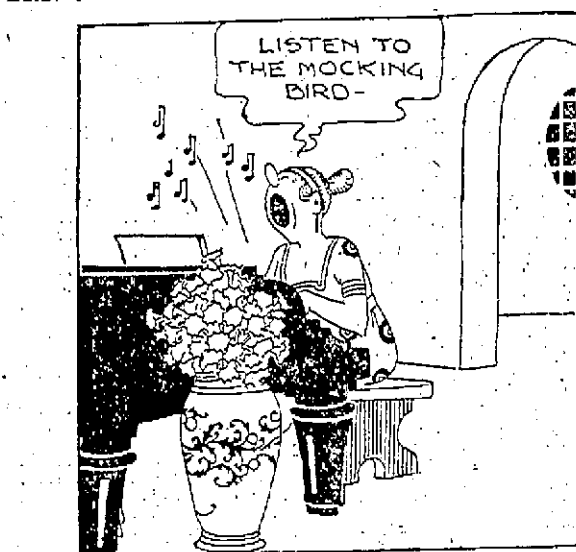

Light refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. C. F. Ehringer, Mrs. A. L. Sundholm, Mrs. D. H. Behring and Miss Ella Jacobson.

Mrs. D. W. Holmes, the president, presided at a brief business meeting when it was voted to endorse the purchase of a moving picture machine by the executive board if a workable plan could be evolved to raise the money. For this purpose, an entertainment committee has been named.

BADGER TO ADDRESS INLAND PRESS BODY
Chicago—Comprehensive exhibits of newspaper work in its different branches and talks by leading newspaper men of the middle-west were scheduled for the two-day meeting of the Inland Daily Press association, which opened Tuesday. John L. Sturtevant, of the Record Herald, Wausau, Wis., was to deliver an address on "The Print Paper Situation," along with speeches by other newspaper owners and editors from the wood pulp producing states.

MINE CONGRESS MEETS
Chicago—Problems of the mining industry, especially as applied to coal, headed the topics for consideration Tuesday at the convening of the annual conventions of the American Mining congress.

True to tradition, Wisdom is leading the way in the Moose bowling league. The winners copied three straight Monday night and kept their state clean with a percentage of 1.000, defeating Ald, 10-0.

After getting a bad start last week by trimming Faith three straight, one of the wins was by 12 points.

Losing the first to Mooseheart by four pins, Charity was uncharacteristic enough to take the next two.

Erilege of Progress was high man with 220. O. Dietz of Purity was second high with 214.

200 Organized Bowlers Here, Says Association

From an outlook that looked dubious at the beginning, bowling in Janesville has reached such strides as has not been witnessed here for several years. A statement issued Tuesday by the Janesville Bowling association reports 200 bowlers signed and rolling at the local alleys.

Four of them are women of the Young Women's Christian association, who roll Tuesday nights at the East Side alleys.

The largest number of organized bowlers are in the Industrial-Commercial league, which has 12 teams with a total of 72 men.

The City league, ranking first as to experience, has eight teams or 48 men. The Tri-league has four three-man teams for a total of 12.

The Moose league has eight three-man teams, or a total of 24. The American legion is getting under way and has four three-man teams, or 12.

According to the association, the spirit of sportsmanship is better this year than ever. The men are in the game for the joy of it and are doing all they can to boost the sport.

GERTH'S 70-YD. RUN AIDS WATERTOWN WIN

(Special to Gazette.)
Watertown—Featured by a 70-yard run by Gerth, the local high school defeated Waupun here Saturday, 25 to 0. Touchdowns were made by Gerth and Boettcher, who scored two each. Offensive work by Archie Hoffman resulted in substantial gains. Watertown plays Portage there next Saturday.

WHITEWATER TRIMS CAMBRIDGE, 30 TO 14

(Special to Gazette.)
Whitewater—Whitewater high defeated Cambridge on Hamilton field here Saturday, 30 to 14.

New York—Tex Rickard received a letter from Georges Carpentier, in which the French champion announced he had started light training for his bout with George Cook of Australia in London on Dec. 2.
